Heritage Army Sheds – Rockhampton, Australia

Four Army sheds, owned by the Australian Defence Forces, were purchased from the US Army and relocated from Vietnam to the Rockhampton Army base following the Vietnam war in 1973. They are clad with hot dip galvanised sheeting which is original.

They are now Heritage listed and ZINGA has been chosen to preserve the structures while maintaining the original appearance.

The coating contractor was HASLIN CONTRACTING and the project was delivered in March 2024.

The surface was water blasted with a minimum 3,500 psi to remove loose rust and contaminants, followed by spot repairs using Bristle Blasters and grit emery cloth on the rusty areas to provide a sound substrate.

The total surface area of the four sheds was 687m<sup>2</sup>

System:

Surface preparation: 3,500 psi water blast, bristle blaster and abrasive grit cloth
ZINGA spot prime repair areas to 50µm DFT followed by full coat 60 to 80 µm DFT (by brush/spray)
